Machine Data Encryption Key

This is an encryption key which allows you to protect confidential data stored in the machine.

It is essential that the safekeeping and destruction of this encryption key be under your direct responsibility.

Data saved and programmed on the machine (documents, image data, setting values, address book contents etc.) can be encrypted/decrypted with this encryption key.

If this machine breaks down, saved and programmed data in the machine can only be restored by entering this encryption key.

(Please note that it may not be possible to restore data in certain machine breakdown cases.)

This machine data encryption key will remain valid as long as the encryption is not cancelled or the encryption key is not changed.

After changing or cancelling the encryption key, please shred this document to destroy confidential data.
